Countdown Timer is the software that allows you to monitor the time left on a countdown. You can count down the time that remain until a certain event occurs, such as graduations, a big event in your life, and so on. In addition to time displaying, the app gives you the opportunity to easily set the date. Countdown Timer has also the option to count down by years, months, weeks, days or hours. Furthermore, the unit of measurement is a click away, since all the figures are displayed with the same size. The app also has a custom countdown mode that is activated by pressing the Custom button in the bottom left corner. This will allow you to set the countdown values in minutes, hours, days or months, in order to perform some specific tasks, such as saving time or getting ready to perform an event. For instance, if you want to save time for something that you need to do, countdown by hours to avoid missing the deadline. Countdown Timer supports all the platforms that Microsoft Windows is available on. It works flawlessly on Windows XP, Vista and 7, and it is capable of detecting even the lowest versions of Windows. What's more, the application has a simple, straightforward interface that can be customized to your preferences. The settings are accessed from the panel on the lower left corner of the interface, which has a button for saving the current settings or changing them. The app has a well-designed main window that, once again, has three buttons that provide you with the pre-set countdown values. It also has a lower region that displays the time, date, time left and the unit of measurement. An additional button is present for the custom countdown mode. Aside from all the main features, Countdown Timer also has a complete file summary. It is displayed in the information bar and it helps you quickly see how much space you have available on your hard drive. With all the details about software already presented, it is time to conclude about the main ones.
