Virtual PC 2007 includes a number of enhancements over previous versions of Virtual PC, as well as a number of new features. General Virtual PC 2007 Home Virtual PC 2008 Home Virtual PC is a hardware emulator to run Windows applications. It only needs a 64-bit version of Windows XP, Windows Server 2003, Windows Vista, Windows Server 2008, Windows 7 or Windows 8 installed. Windows XP is the operating system supported in Virtual PC 2007, all other Windows versions are supported as well. The minimum hardware requirements are: 1. One CPU with hardware virtualization extensions (Intel VT or AMD-V) 2. One hundred MB of RAM 3. One USB port 4. DVD drive The best choice would be to get a 64-bit version of Windows, so that you can use 64-bit guest applications. NOTE: Due to limitations in the hardware support on Windows XP 32-bit versions of Virtual PC, it is not possible to use 32-bit applications on these systems. You can test 32-bit applications in a Windows Vista or Windows 7 setup, however. Virtual PC 2007 Home Edition The Home Edition of Virtual PC 2007 does not require the license for any version of Microsoft Windows. Virtual PC Home Edition is free, i.e. it does not require any subscription fees or registration. It can be used online or
