Deepak Patil's book, "Effective Talent Management" is a good book to read to gain insights on how to handle HR in a business.

Some insight into the persona of manager is gained from this book. Šubashwala K. [1] ( )The 14th century dominated chahamanas (history of royal dynasties in India) contains many descriptions of the life of a working captain who were the predecessors of the present day Nautical Masters, especially the Nizams. Janam Marsi (जनम मारी): Social worker of an NGO spread the rumour that Dalit family was involved in child trafficking. The father was arrested and child was taken away. The rumours spread like wild fire and accused the family of being child traffickers. The girl was taken away from the house with her children. Yesterday there was a court order released the girl to the mother. The child is yet to be reunited with the mother as the high court is not ready to hold the release hearing. The family is in jail for a week now and the mother is not given access to the child. The whole issue is blown out of proportion by the NGOs. They alleged that the family was involved in trafficking and the court made a mistake by ordering the release of the girl. The mother of the child can not know the matter and should be given access to her. They could make the case a little bit with the help of NGO. Imagine what the mother must have gone through till yesterday and what she is going through today. She is in jail, her children without her, she doesn't know what happened to her children. Her children are on hunger strike and the girl also. If the mother is not given access to the children and child is taken away, what will be the future of these children? The injustice needs to stop today! Has everything reached its limit and we have gone beyond the limits of law and order? Is this what we have come to? We are going back to the 18th century? We are going back to the British and all they have come back to us is injustice! If you can go to 17th century can you also go to 18th century? There is no logic in what is going on. If this is a law and order problem then government must take a strict action against the social workers. They have to stop the atrocities against the Dalit family by f30f4ceada
