I have been working for the Library for 35 years and was involved in the original redesign and subsequent renewal of the Library in the early 1990's. I am still in awe of the amount of work and commitment that was invested in those days. This has been an exciting time since then, and I have been pleased to see the New Library develop as a dynamic and thriving centre for research and learning at Heriot Watt. And this is a good time to move on. A brief reflection of the success of the Library that no-one can ever dispute, the buildings need a makeover and I am delighted to be part of the team who will develop the new Library. Please will you join me in welcoming the Library Manager and Design Team, to whom I am sure you can direct all further queries on the project.
