A: Disassemble the firmware into hex byte code and write to the device. Q: Deciding where to spend money on a new Ubuntu installation I am thinking about buying a new PC and installing ubuntu or lubuntu on it. Before I do so, I have a question about how I am planning to set it up. I am going to be replacing an old windows xp installation (with possibly malware) with either ubuntu or lubuntu, but I want to do my best to optimize the performance of my computer for a web server. My question is the following:

How should I set up my system for web server use? My current installation is almost exclusively a desktop environment. My CPU is
