What's new in Lovengrad:

- Dutchy.jpg Photo by Hans Derykberg Known for his witty, if quirky design sense, Dutchy marks the coming of an era where Dutch black metal bands are going to be recognized in the global scene. If you're new to the Dutchy scene, here's a primer to better get you up to speed on him. As the frontman for the legendary band Chimp Spanner, Dutchy has been playing guitar for around 10 years now. He formed the band Chimp Spanner in 1998, together with drummer Skyler McCurdy and bassist Eric Johnson. Drummer Aaron Lanier and bassist Dave Pescia joined the band in 1999. As for his designs, Dutchy began to make his own works late in the '90s. Sketches of his earlier works was primarily made on paper, tape and index cards, which were given away at live shows. In 2006, he started to print his paintings on canvas. The solo album "Stasislaw" in 2008 as well as full time work on shirts, posters and banners as well as jigsaw puzzles at the end of 2009 were significant turning points of 'Dutchy, the person becoming full-blown Dutchy, the brand. Dutchy now designs all of the music related products himself. As of late, he has been working on a video series called "Whatever Dreams You Dream," which means that he is presenting the songs of Dutchy in a music video. There are three episodes up to now ("You are the People," "Imagination is the Best Form of Flattery" and "Glassbread") and a fourth is coming soon. Also, Dutchy is working on a solo album, his first record since his second solo release in 2006 and while working on his electronic albums, Dutchy will branch out from his band's usual style to explore more experimental territory. Since its first release in 2011, his first solo albums "The Silent Secret of Seeds" and "Dutchy's Dystopian Ark" with a sister album planned for July 2013. Here we present a few of his designs and the few oddities his work has over in the Dark Castle of Netherflank/Backflank... ----- - TOOL - Tool, a band from Massachusetts, is releasing new album 14th studio
