Pakistan's diplomatic, economic and commercial offices are also located in this city. Islamabad is the largest city of Pakistan with a population of 4.7 million.. Islamabad is located on a plain five miles (8 kilometers) southeast of the Indus River. It is on a slightly elevated plateau surrounded by hills and mountains. According to the ancient Hindu scriptures of Mahabharata and Ramayana the site was known as Mahadev before the Muslims conquered it in the 16th century. In ancient times it was the centre of a confederation of Indo-Aryan tribes, which spoke the Indo-Aryan language and have now become Indo-Aryan Muslims.. In 1994 it was named as capital of the newly created Capital Development Authority. It is the administrative headquarters of ICT (Capital Territory), and the seat of the District and Sessions Court and the High Court of Pakistan. The city of Islamabad was created in 1973 as capital of the newly independent state of Pakistan; its current status as capital of the country and ICT was established in 2010. However, no independent towns have been granted status as such.. Islamabad's population density is 20,000 people per square kilometre, higher than its urban sibling, Rawalpindi, and a few times that of Karachi. The city is a major employer in Pakistan, with a large number of government-owned or government-affiliated businesses, and smaller businesses. It is Pakistan's second most populous city after Karachi and has the lowest unemployment rate in Pakistan.. Economy Islamabad is a thriving economic centre in Pakistan. It is the second largest city in Pakistan and the most industrialised city in Pakistan; it is an important centre for the production of textiles, electronics, food and beverages. It is 0cc13bf012
