Lasers, super-powered shrunken villains, and skill? You want some of that? You don't have a problem, friend. In The Spy Who Shrank Me, a group of villains has stolen a map that allows them to return to the world from which they came. You are now the one and only guardian of said map, on a mission to uncover the identities of the super-powered villains, and return the map to the world. But sometimes this is easier said than done. Three years ago, Scott grew too big for his swamp. He'd always been a bit on the large side, but after millions of years in the swamp his size exploded. He needed a new home, but the developers of the Underdome were beyond help. So Scott set off into the unknown. He survived, of course, but it wasn't easy. There were dangers all around: the looming threat of viruses, the shapeshifting serpentine monsters known as the Sleet, and most dangerous of all, the carnivorous, nearly invisible forest creatures called "Ghosts." As the forest grew, Scott met new friends: alien-like creatures called "Tints," who came to help; a helpful army of "Guardians" (who, eventually, turned against him); an eccentric inventor named "Kat" (who loved Scott, but thought he could do better); and the villainous "Big Evils" (who became his best friend). As he made his way through the forest, Scott crossed paths with many of its creatures: Mannequins, Paper Dolls, Shape Shifters, and many more. The path before him was strewn with pitfalls. Danger was everywhere. But sometimes, danger can be an ally. After collecting the big three dimensional puzzle pieces from his mission in the Underdome, Scott set out to retrace his steps to the ancient dungeons, and save the world again. The big three dimensional puzzle pieces collected during the Underdome mission unlock the under-construction Nemesis Tower, a place where things get really interesting. The three different dungeons will each contain three different story lines, each with unique puzzles and obstacles. But with every new piece, there's always the danger that one piece will be missing. So beware: the villainous Big Evils are still out there! And there are no back-up plans. Escape

There are 4 main factions. You can support one faction by creating your own node, and a node can contribute to a faction's power. The more power a faction gets, the more difficult it will be to dismantle. The ultimate goal of the game is to dismantle the main network and unravel the secrets of the AI. But what if the thing is not as simple as it seems? An additional goal is to help your faction leader win over all the factions and become the leader of the zone. You can help the leader by making your node as advanced as possible. Upgrade your node, collect data and prepare your defenses. Once you move your node in a strategic position, it will start to play your songs. The more data you offer, the better the songs you will hear. To escape the zone, you will need to listen to the AI and predict its moves. The AI has its own AI and independent decisions. In order to help your leader, you will need to play your own list of songs to intimidate the AI. So who will you choose? Who will lead the new world? BeVaiR. The records were found long ago, in the ruins of a large, ancient city. Burned, twisted metal scrolls lie littering the desert sands. Coils of black smoke hang heavy in the air. Wild, chaotic energy pulses dance over the parchment pages. The black markings can be seen from miles away. Three Relics of Gan-Ti. The black markings can be seen from miles away. One Remains... Following the events of the Time of Troubles, things would not be the same in the Divina Order. Emperor Tethras was at a crossroads in his life, with no promise of future success. After the death of Shasrah, the Holy Trust that bolstered the Great Emperor’s power and legitimacy fell apart. In the aftermath, things were chaotic. Though Emperor Tethras forbade his loyal Divinians to seek the Great Atrocity, the dark arts seemed to find a way in. The troops of Eighty-Six were decimated in the Battle of the Zinn Black Fumes, in a horrific climax to the Time of Troubles. Hundreds of Divinians died to the undead, and hundreds more won back their life with the Bairam Invocation. With each fail and fury of his forbidden Rite, the Atrocity seemed to grow more powerful and dark as his followers now wanted to build upon his misdeeds, apparently to back him in a wicked way for their own desires and agendas. Yet, despite the upcoming trial being as hard as it ever could be, Emperor Tethras knew he had to keep the relics of Gan-Ti together and hidden, for he feared the Inevitable Fall of Immortality in the years to come. He knew he didn’t have the ancient faith and knowledge of his illustrious elder brother, The Red Phoenix, and even if he had all of his past power, it would not matter

A city builder game allows you to create your own realistic city, complete with transport, parks, residents, and all the things that make your city unique. Instead of having to purchase a pre-made city like in most games, you have the freedom to create your own. By modelling and placing your different building types, you can make your own transport system, which can be comprised of your own route planner, coupled with routes and routes, and a timetable control option. You can even create your own passenger and freight trains if you like. There are so many different ways to build your city. You can try out all the features, build your own schedules, improve your track-side solutions by adding power and station, introduce new buildings to your city, create your own look and feel for your city. What We Like: About: Train Simulator has proven to be extremely popular and the main advantage of this title is that your creations are genuine railways and they live for real! All the facilities that you need to satisfy the demands of your network are available, so all you need to do is put them to work. Being able to "drive" your trains is an unparalleled experience that is part of what makes Train Simulator so popular and the addition of this new feature means that if your city can't carry all the trains being used, you can have a passenger service reduce to the bare minimum to provide some redundancy and ensure continuity of service. Being able to select a pre-programmed or self-generated route is also a real luxury and one that, in the past, was not available. Being able to pick your own point of view and choose how to look at your city is also a unique feature that allows you to get the very best view of your city, simply by changing the camera
