Rules, Ban list and Skill Requirements 8. How to duel 9. Multiplayer or Single Player 10. Game features About this game We found out that we also like sitting in front of our computer and just shooting things. This happened as we found out that there is already a simulator on the market called American Bounty Hunter Simulator VR. Though the game has some similarities to ours, we found out that our skills are a little bit different. And thus we started to brainstorm what we would like to achieve with the Duel version of the game. What is the game's universe This would be the same universe as American Bounty Hunter Simulator VR. But we chose to not use any actual music from the original game. We have recreated our version on its own, for the complete new experience. How the game works Players have an FPS-Controller. This is not the game's controller though. We have written a custom input handler for the Steam Controller, that uses this controller as part of the system. We have done this in order to make sure that all players have a uniform experience, when playing on a non-Steam Controller. What is gameplay As a duel game, we believe that it is important for players to be able to see their opponent. And this is the reason why we have our duel screens displayed in Full-Screen Mode, with the Game-Screen in the middle. The game screen is also where your avatar will appear in the game. Who to play We created our game specifically for western-style games. And we also made sure that we had the immersive elements that are part of this style of game. When choosing who to play as, players need to decide how to approach the opponent. Do they want to be a fast player that comes from the crowd and quick as a bullet? Or would they prefer to be stealthy and try to sneak through the canyon? What is a duel Every player is provided with an FPS-Controller with a trigger and a keyboard. This allows players to freely aim the gun and be able to fire it. There is a left and right trigger. And players must also be able to aim the gun as they cannot actually fire until they are within the summary A prologue of the film begins with a young man who is blind in one eye, left deaf in the left ear, dyslexic and who is partially brain damaged due to malnutrition in his earliest years. He does odd jobs in order to earn some money and food. This poor man named Daya Ram takes refuge at the residence of a wealthy woman, (Miss Madhu S.), because she is kind hearted, has given him his meals two years back and has helped him regain his health. Daya Ram develops a liking towards Miss Madhu S.'s presence of mind, creativity and her traits to understand him. (A scene can be seen in the middle of the movie where Daya Ram and Madhu S. dance together and he teaches her to wave her hand, and all the time he keeps on telling her to hold her hand higher.) The day comes when Daya Ram realizes she is the one he wants to die for and he wants to show her his love but he does not have the guts to do so due to fear and doubt of society. In the heavy days, he starts to work nearby her office where several corrupt and criminal elements are working with her. He shadows them, and one day, he sees them breaking into a jewel case. One of them lifts a gold chain which he wears and tells all the others it is valuable and "bust him" and they start to laugh. This is a sign for Daya Ram to realize they are the thieves he is shadowing. One day, he takes out all the jewellery that was stolen and takes back that he was wearing stolen property and tells the thieves that he will get back the jewellery in their homes and all of them get out instantly. This is followed by the evil characters dancing together and singing a song saying that Daya Ram is here to settle scores with them. They, in their uncontrolled enthusiasm, start dancing and "take to" Daya Ram himself. They dare to touch him and make him one of them. An excited Daya Ram starts running around and
