Version 8.1 of the OS adds some major features, like a Heads-Up Display for quick messaging, Lumia camera improvements and enhanced voice recognition. The update, also known as Windows Phone 8.1 Update 1, was revealed on Twitter. Nokia said that users can expect their Lumia to download the update "later this week." There are many improvements in this update. Read more here. Heads-Up Display "The new time and day view gives a picture of the time and the day as a simple glance, and the expanded menu gives you more access to your favorite apps. The heads-up experience is now even more useful for shopping, messaging, and browsing. Windows Phone users also get more weather forecasts in their timeline. When the weather is interesting, it appears in your timeline, allowing you to share your thoughts with others. In addition, with Windows Phone 8.1, you can adjust the intensity of the Heads-Up Display with a simple slider, letting you control the time and day view." Camera "Lumia users have more control over their camera thanks to new lenses. They can now take cool, artistic shots with a camera modification tool and even use the camera as a low-light camera. The camera includes added support for high dynamic range (HDR) with the new HDR feature, plus you can now use exposure brackets or LDR images in apps that support these scenarios. And now you can take a photo automatically before an app starts and use that photo for the entire duration of the time the app is running." Voice recognition "Windows Phone users will notice the improvements to voice recognition. Through ongoing improvements to speech processing, voice recognition is now better. In one of the most famous examples, for example, there is now voice control of the camera from the lock screen."Q: Is there a way to create a localized date?
