Are you ready for a racing league - one of the most popular and largest in Russia? If you aren't, you are going to have a good time to look into this game. The given title includes a lot of features which make this game unique. That is also why it attracts almost all players. Let's see what makes the game so popular: Rule Number 1: If you want to play solo, you can. The event will be a lot of fun, because you can join your friends on the event and take part in multiplayer matches. Rule Number 2: If you do not like it - all the better, is the most popular quote of the game. The given game doesn't have leaderboard on PlayStation consoles, it simply does not have it, it is only for those who do not like to record results in the game (this is a good deal for racing games).

Rule Number 3: There is a Time Trial in the game; you can race the most dangerous and difficult track 10 times to get the maximum score. Rule Number 4: Racing for beginners - this is a huge novelty in any racing game. Rule Number 5: The easiest to learn and hard to master - the game is designed in such a way that the most experienced and amateur driver will not get dizzy. Rule Number 6: Learning curve - this is not an exact formula, but it is a term used to describe the game's difficulty settings and control operations. This model applies the best to the less experienced players, that is, to those who have acquired the necessary skills, but not yet fully developed and set, and to those who are still trying to master the skills of driving a racing car. Rule Number 7: All the control operations which allow you to steer the car or jump out are integrated in the game: there is one button to move the car or jump, another to open the garage, two more to climb the hill, etc. Rule Number 8: In the game, a car comes equipped with a drone and a car. Rule Number 9: All the cars in the race are well designed and have unique and interesting features.

Blood temperature as an index of dehydration in patients receiving sepsis care. Early recognition of the presence of dehydration in patients receiving care for sepsis is essential because dehydration can negatively impact survival. This study sought to examine whether laboratory-measured and subjective methods for assessing dehydration correlated with a variety of physiologic and laboratory-measured measures in patients receiving care for

Survival Diary has been an ambitious video game adventure of 25 years. It is the longest-running free game in iOS history. Survival Diary is a mystery simulation game - a lot like the popular "Dungeons & Dragons" and "Sims". It is very open-ended. You can play it with a friend or silently by yourself. Your goal is to get back to your hometown. The way back is not a smooth road. In the game, you will experience 100+ stages and 120+ levels. In each level, you start by fighting the not-so-friendly local police, who are looking for you. You will escape from the police by climbing the local hospital, smashing their car, jumping into a shopping cart, or pushing the big shiny red button (not a real one). You can explore the city by walking around (but don't forget to keep an eye out for obstacles). You can even leave the city by taking the bus or by getting on and off a train. You also need to find the money you need to pay the bus driver. In each stage, you will choose from lots of different solutions. You can use your Intelligence (which is based on your character's personality traits like ambition, boldness, etc.) to make your way back to your hometown. You will make new friends during this process. You will encounter encounters and puzzles. The encounters can be solved using your Intellect. Puzzles are used to help you get to your destination in stages. Each stage has a unique exit location: one with obstacles (a bus route, an elevator, a crane, or a train), one with a friendly character (the police, the gym trainer, a purse-dog, or a bus driver), one with a special (i.e. a chase scene) object, or one with a truck. Screenshots Reviews Loved the basic concept - but it crashed a lot 3 By RandySapphire33 After finding most of my information after just 3 hours of playing this, I was disappointed when it crashed a few times and I lost my progress. It's difficult to get too frustrated when you have a working phone number, but when it repeatedly crashes, it's frustrating. I'm hoping it can get patched soon and many of the crashes can be avoided. Replayable and fast play. Excellent audio. 5 By RubixOnline I really like the graphics,
