The park’s board of directors approved opening the park to food vendors during a meeting at the park on April 11. The park has been open to vendors for more than a decade, but it was reported on by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution that the park was struggling to find appropriate space for food vendors. There is a lot of interest in the new park, said Max Carlson, who serves as chair of the Eco Park board of directors. “There is currently no information on when the new park will open, but we expect this to be an immediate success and can’t wait for it to become a reality,” Carlson told Patch via email. The park’s location on Peachtree Street between 14th and 15th streets is a 6,000-square-foot site that is less than a mile from the Woodruff Arts Center, according to the Atlanta Journal-Constitution. The new park will also include 1,000 to 2,000 parking spots. The park was built to provide safe, elevated, covered parking for visitors to the nearby Perimeter Mall and nearby Buckhead. The space is adjacent to a park dedicated to Nordic skiing and snowshoeing. The park is a welcomed addition that will increase access for both local residents and visitors, Carlson
