Be2works Full [Extra Quality]

If I can see some battery pack with and without my modifier listed I will happily give an honest, objective comment about how good or bad they are. Because I never bought any such battery pack with these charges over 120 euros. The problem I am having is that I did not find any fully working battery packs without this failure on the internet even if the packs are older. And sorry for the late response. I normally never look back at long ago published articles. And all those who are asking about resetting the SH79F329AX controller. I can't help you there because my battery pack couldn't be fixed either. Although it only was used just about 2 cycles it was no longer functioning. And I stopped fixing these packs after BE2Works no longer fixed new controller packs. After hardly been used and even after put aside fully charged like in the instructions was mentioned, packs become trash. And as result no 2 year warranty can solve these bad designed packs that use special firmware that Manufacturers use and obvious do not share with their battery pack buyers. That told me to never fully discharge the battery! (Leaving 2% charge at minimum and at least 70% charged when not in use. Which I did but still it is dead now!) Next photos are taken from my original bad HSTNN-LB42 battery pack. Now also defect for most likely the same reason. I could see the manufacturer of that controller had sold enough of the 26 pins generic chips that is why they could make a new battery pack with the same SH79F329AX. As for me the old BE2WORKS program only helped me to replace the BAD original packs before they could discharge and hurt me or my laptop. That's why I bought the SH79F329AX chip and the BQ 2084DBT controller chip. I also needed the auto charge/discharge/load/unload functionality in order to recharge the new 13000mAh 18650 Li-ion cells. But unfortunately BE2WORKS can't help me to replace the 52 pins generic batteries with these 26 pin SH79F329AX non generic batteries. This is also why I could only read the old BAT1 BAT1/BAT2 status from the old original battery packs.
