the use of volume license editions of project and visio 2016 makes it possible to use a windows 10 pc for both windows and office 365 apps. because you must install both the msi and the click-to-run components, it's more difficult to use a windows 10 pc for both. the user experience for a windows 10 pc with office 365 apps isn't as good as that of a windows 10 pc without office 365 apps. if you are using the office customization tool or want to specify the update channel manually, you must pick the same update channel as your existing office installation is already using. for example, if you want to add project to devices which already have microsoft 365 apps installed and configured for monthly enterprise channel, you need to specify the same update channel for project 2016 in the configuration file. in order to create a new setup, you must select the folder that contains the files to be included in the package, the language and the title of the product, optionally set the program to protect the installer with a registration code, the size of the installer window, the license agreement and to opt for the creation of an uninstaller, if you wish to do so. premiere pro costs us$20.99/mo for individuals and us$35.99/mo per license for teams. premiere pro is also included in the creative cloud all apps plan, along with 20+ more creative apps like photoshop and after effects. adobe offers all apps plans for individuals (us$54.99/mo), students and teachers (us$19.99/mo with eligibility requirement), and teams (us$84.99/mo per license). see plans and pricing creator pro 2 is a simple, standalone and easy-to-use program. it can create setup packages for windows, linux, macos and android platforms. it allows you to create a single executable file, which can be installed on a linux, windows or macos system. to create an executable, you must select the programs you want to install, and provide a license key for your program. what's the difference between these two? simply put, click-to-run means that the installer runs in the context of your windows 10 desktop, whereas the msi installation technology runs in the context of your windows 10 session. msi can be used to install office on windows 10 pcs. click-to-run is the default installation technology for windows 10 apps. it can be used to install other things, such as microsoft 365 apps. because the msi and click-to-run installation technologies are available to use together on windows 10 pcs, you can install microsoft 365 apps and microsoft 365 apps by using click-to-run and the msi installation technology simultaneously. this is the recommended way of installing volume licensed versions of project 2016 and visio 2016 on the same computer as microsoft 365 apps. when you perform a click-to-run installation, the installer locates and runs the msi to perform the installation. if you're installing microsoft 365 apps, you must install the click-to-run client and the msi. this is the best option if you want to install windows 10. you can also open the msi file in visual studio and open its package.appxmanifest file to see which components you can install from the package. for example, you can install the click-to-run client from the package. 5ec8ef588b
