This is the fifteenth game in the official Formula One video game series. It was released in Europe on July 28th. In this game, as in other parts of the series, cars drive on a track with two lanes in each direction. The rider can go in any direction, but on certain sections of the track, namely on the "esks", the rider must drive along the edge. This feature is one of the features in this game. After the first race, when the car was wrecked and the driver was out of order, a special mode appears in the game in which you can choose another car. After such a race, the car can be repaired. dd2bc28256
