From v6 Build 173, QODBC Driver for QuickBooks supports to display the name of the business unit associated with an invoice in the Invoice Details screen. The invoice's date can be either a Prior Year or a Current Year. Access key is the key to access QODBC from your web browsers such as Internet Explorer. This is very important because QODBC Setup v6 Release 210 and later does not accept the existing Access Keys you saved if you had them set during a previous install. Data source specifies the URL of a QuickBooks backup file on our servers. If there is no backup file you can use the parameter hostname to specify your QuickBooks Server. If you have an older version of QODBC Setup where you created a connection string for a backup file, you can use the parameter Connection string. Driver library specifies the location of the QODBC library that was installed on your system. If QODBC Setup does not find the QODBC library when it starts, this field is required.
