Investors as part of his "net worth" in calculating the loss, because he should have been credited with the $3,269,000 that he used as a down payment in purchasing the Stock in June 1982. Appellant's failure to disclose the commingling of investors' funds resulted in a violation of section 1341. The violation was not compounded by the provision of money to the investors by appellant, who had received it from the investors in the form of the $50,000 down payment. Section 2F1.1(b)(7)(A) provides for a two-level increase "if the amount of the loss... exceed[s] $50,000."

41 The district court committed no error in calculating the loss to be $50,000, the amount of money appellant fraudulently obtained from the Investors. In addition, the district court did not commit error by utilizing the $50,000 as part of appellant's "net worth," since he had not yet repaid the money he was given by the Investors. In our view, the district court's determination of the loss was not clearly erroneous. 42 For the foregoing reasons, the judgment
