I'm just wondering whether serverless.com resources (e.g. functions, functions-gateway, events, etc.) come free? I don't want to buy them. Would you say that I can write my serverless resources without buying them? Also, if I can write my serverless resources without buying them, is there a source code of all of them? A: Serverless.com is a marketing tool for businesses promoting their product. Do they make it available for free? That's up to them. Konstantinos Manos Konstantinos Manos (born c. 1580, died 1660) was a Greek-born prelate of the Roman Catholic Church, who served as Latin Patriarch of Constantinople, Greek Archbishop of Thessalonica and Greek Pro-Catholic metropolitan of Trondheim from 1632 to 1660. Biography He was born in Thrace. He became a monk at the age of twenty-two, at the time of the Turkish persecution of the Catholic Church, and was forced to leave. He travelled to Italy, at that time the centre of the Counter-Reformation. He entered the Order of Preachers (Dominicans) and became a professor of theology. He was made a priest in 1597 and after several years in Rome, he was appointed by pope Clement VIII as Latin bishop of Rhodes in 1602. There he was imprisoned for some time, but escaped. In 1609 he was appointed Bishop of Thessalonica, his native city, in succession to a Greek Catholic archbishop, imprisoned by the Ottoman Turks. The problem is quite easy to me, since the terms of the series are not in ratio 4 : 1, but I just can't figure out how to approach this sort of problem. The natural way seems to be to verify if there is a subsequence convergent to a value less than or equal to one, but I can't see any. Maybe I can approach this by the comparison test, but can someone explain how to do it in the first place? Any other way to approach this problem is appreciated. A: By using the fact that  $a^n > a^{n-1} + f988f36e3a$
