The Official Wizard101 for Windows 10 & Xbox One Player Handbook app is the ultimate.Q: In kivy, what is the easiest way to draw inside of a widget, without a draw.py class method? I'm trying to draw a line in kivy, inside of a widget. I read some of the tutorials and as far as I can tell I need to make a draw.py class, using the methods of the kivy module. However I'd much rather be able to just use the draw methods that the widget already has. For example: class testWidget(App): def build(self): return TextInputLayout() class testWidget(App): def build(self): return TextInputLayout() Doesn't work. When I do that, it causes "NameError: global name 'TextInputLayout' is not defined". A: This is indeed true. You cannot draw directly on the screen. And to draw on a screen, we need to use the draw method of the Canvas widget. And this should be done only with the Python level, not with Kivy! In an interface with the Kivy, your 'Widget' class is a Kivy class. And the Canvas is a class defined within Kivy. A: I believe you are thinking of drawing directly to the screen, when really you want to draw to a widget. In other words, if you wanted to do a direct draw
